Rhododendrons.

A beautiful nuptial wedding was solemnized Monday evening at 9 o'clock at the residence of Colonel and Mrs. Lincoln Karman in the Marine Barracks, near Norfolk, when Miss Katherine Gardner, niece of Captain Karman, Arthur T. Miller, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Maria, was united in marriage to Lieutenant John Barclay Rhodes, U. S. N. The rooms were effectively decorated with flags and masses of holly and cedar. The ceremony took place in the library, which had been transformed into a house of palms, holly and crimson poinsettias. Rev. C. E. Donahue, of St. Paul's Catholic Church in Portsmouth, officiated.

The bride entered with her uncle, Captain Miller, who gave her in marriage. She wore a handsome gown of white satin, charmed, veiled in white, brocade, marquisette, and trimmed in heart and embroidery and rose point lace. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley. Lieutenant Rhodes wore the full dress uniform of his rank. Mrs. Robert Eustis Hoyt was matron of honor, and was given in a creation of net over yellow charmed, made with train and trimmed in heavy gold embroidery and opalescent beads. Her flowers were a shower of yellow roses. Robert Dunne, of Newport, R. I., was best man.

An informal reception followed the wedding, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes left for Norfolk. They will go North for their wedding trip.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Rhodes, of Media, Pa., the groom's mother, and Mr. Rhodes, Mrs. Haynes and little son, of New York and Lexington, and Mr. Dunne.

CHRISTMAS OBSERVED AT FREDERICKSBURG

Family Reunions and Sunday School Entertainments Features of Day.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]—Fredericksburg, Va., December 25.—Christmas was probably never observed here with more of the spirit of hospitality and good cheer and good will than at this Christmas of 1912. The ground being covered with snow added a zest to the pleasures of the season, lending to it the charm of the old-time Christmas, when sleighs were more numerous than automobiles. Business was entirely suspended, the day being observed by every one as a holiday, and the features of the day were family reunions, big Christmas dinners at the homes and the celebration of the day by the various Sunday schools.

St. George's Episcopal Sunday school held its celebration last night with interesting exercises, including singing of Christmas carols, awarding of prizes and the distribution of good things.

The Baptist Sunday school had a double celebration, meeting at 10 o'clock this morning for the distribution of good things to the members of the Sunday school, and the award ing of prizes for regular attendance, bringing in new scholars, etc., and for night descriptive musical program was given at the church, entitled "A Night in the Orient." It consisted of portions of reading and music by a large chorus, the occasion being of great interest and pleasure.

The Presbyterian Sunday school held its celebration at 10 o'clock this morning, in the Methodist Sunday school celebration was held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and St. Mary's Catholic Sunday school held its celebration at 10 o'clock with special music and the distribution of good things to the scholars. All of the Sunday schools are large ones, and take great pride in their Christmas celebrations, each carrying out an interesting program and distributing good things generously, and awarding valuable prizes for workers in the Sunday school cause.

Trinity Episcopal Church will hold its Christmas celebration services here at 11 o'clock, services conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. H. Barber, D. D. The Benevolent Order of Elks of this city, following its annual custom, distributed to-day to the needy poor of the city a large quantity of substantial articles, such as clothing, shoes, etc., for their relief. It was a good work, well performed.

The annual Christmas German was held to-night in the auditorium of "Russell Hall" on the State Normal School grounds, which is admirably suited for such a purpose. There were many couples of the local community, and many visitors from different cities and other points, and a large number of spectators enjoyed the music and watched with interest the graceful movements of the dancers. At midnight a supper was served. The music was supplied by a string orchestra from Washington.

NAPIERS ARE VERY NUMEROUS FAMILY

Patronymic Said to Have Been Bestowed by David II. of Scotland.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY. Sir Alexander Napier, of Napier, whose impendous marriage to Miss Ashurst Morris, granddaughter of the late Sir Richard Puleston, who was so well known in this country, has just been announced, is an officer of the Grenadier Guards, who was A. D. to Lord Dudley when James Napier was Governor-General of Australia. He is the head of the junior branch of that great Scotch house of Napier, which has for its chief Lord Napier, of Ettrick, and has a Canadian stepmother. For his father, the late Sir Archibald Napier, another officer of the Grenadier Guards, was married to Charlotte, the only daughter of Henry William Austin, of Montreal, Chief Justice of the Bahamas.

The patronymic is said to be derived from an expression of David II. of Scotland, who, before his death, was in complimenting the Lennox men, led by Donald, second son of the Earl of Lennox, declared that they had all done valiantly, but that there was one of them, namely, their chief, who had "Nae pier" (no peer). It was from this lenox and thus invested by King David with the surname of Napier, that the Napiers take their descent.

The Napiers are a very numerous family, and include, besides Lord Napier of Ettrick, another peer, namely, Lord Napier of Magdala. Then there is a Sir William Lennox Napier, who is indebted for his baronetcy to the fact that his grandfather, Sir Joseph Napier, was Lord Chancellor of Ireland.

Sir Alexander Napier's baronetcy is 300 years old, having been created by King James in 1612, that is to say, near 300 years ago. The best known of his branch of the family was John Napier, of Merchiston, the inventor of logarithms, who flourished in the reign of Mary, Queen of Scots. The ancient castle of Merchiston, now used as a public school, and the first editions of the works of this inventor of logarithms are preserved in the library of Thirlstone, the beautiful ancestral home of Lord Napier of Ettrick, in Selkirkshire.

Lord Napier, prior to his accession to the title, spent a number of years at Washington as secretary of the British legation there, being known as the Master of Napier, and his father the late Lord Napier of Ettrick, some fifteen or twenty years previously, was British envoy to the United States.

Thirlstone lies in the heart of the country through which Mary, Queen of Scots, passed in her wild ride to join her lover, Lord Bothwell. There are the very "lands of Boleroine" which Sir William, the dauntless knight, would have given if he had been a "Lay" man.

Thirlstone has been the scene of many a bit of drama and tragedy in the history of Scotland, and contains many wonderful relics of every description, not among the least of which are a cap, shirt and hose worn on the day of his execution by the great Montrose, and bequeathed by him to his favorite niece, Lady Napier.

Lady Napier, it may be remembered, after the body of the marquis had been dismembered, in accordance with the terms of the sentence, under circumstances of the greatest indignity.

Avoid Poisonous Tablets

No woman should purchase an anti-poison or germicide, in tablet, liquid or powder form, which contains any poisons. Follow your physician's advice, and specify Tyree's Antiseptic Powder, because it is absolutely harmless and positive in its results.

Tyree's Antiseptic Powder kills diseased tissues, prevents infection, unexcelled as a douche, and is highly efficacious as a general antiseptic for the household. One 25-cent package makes two gallons standard solution. Sold by druggists everywhere. Send for booklet and free sample.
